NETRAL ZONE FOR PROTECTION OF U. S. CITIZENS ASKED IN SHANGHAI SAN FRANCISCO - RENO AIR MAIL PLANE CRASHES

U. S. CITIZENS HELD TO BE IN GREAT DANGER

Proposal for Protection
Of Foreigners Laid
Before Generals

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The United States today formally proposed to the rival Chinese military factions that the international settlement at Shanghai, where thousands of American refugees are concentrated, be made a neutral zone, the state department announced.

The proposal was laid before Chang-Tao-Lin, Manchurian war lord, by American Minister John Van A. MacMurray. It was likewise forwarded by telegraph to leaders of the Cantonese army at Hankow.

Imminent Danger
This move was taken, it was learned, because of the imminent danger to thousands of Americans as a decisive battle between the two contending armies for control of Shanghai appeared imminent. There was no reply has been heard from either faction but the department is hopeful that the proposal will be approved by both.

U. S. Action Independent
In proposing that the foreign settlement be made a neutral zone, the United States acted independently of the other great powers including Great Britain.

This was taken to indicate that this government has formally decided to "act on its own" from (Continued on Page 8)

Crockett Depot To Be Improved

The Crockett depot will be improved at a cost of from $35,000 to $40,000, according to word of approval from the Southern Pacific company yesterday. Shipping facilities are to be increased, the present building is to be enlarged, and the grounds surrounding the depot will be beautified.

The improvement has been urged by the Crockett-Valencia Business Men's association for a long time.

Arbitration To End Strife Is Again Asked By Dr. Sacasa

Overtures Toward Peace
Are Repeated by Dr. Sacasa

(By Universal Service)
PUERTO CABEZAS, Feb. 5.—Dr. Juan Sacasa, leader of the Nicaraguan liberal forces in the attack on the Diaz government, today reiterated his overtures for peace.

The Sacasa machine is grinding out fresh victories daily, according to neutral reports from various sections of the country. Despite this, however, Sacasa is reported to be anxious for a settlement of the affair.

Sacasa today issued instructions to his representative at Washington, D. C., to get action on his suggestion that the United States and the Central American nations join in arbitrating the Nicaraguan difficulties.

Asks U. S. Session
Under the Sacasa plan, the meetings would be held in Washington, under American auspices. Sacasa pledges himself to abide by the award, although the Sacasa party has hitherto refused to consider any peace move unless it included the resignation of President Diaz.

Sacasa today repudiated as "calumnious" a report that he proposes to erect an eastern Nicaraguan independent liberal state and said that such a move would be monstrous treason towards the country.

All his efforts now were concentrated on obtaining some measure of arbitration, he said.

Gough To Seek Parole Soon

Convicted of mulcting Richmond investors of more than $40,000 in the Golett oil swindle a year ago, James W. Gough, one of the principals in the fraud, and now serving a term in San Quentin, has asked for parole.

Local investors who lost heavily in the swindle are expected to protest against granting freedom to the man who floated a mythical oil merger. Gough was accused of promising a net return of 100 percent on an investment. His promotion included a merger with one of the largest oil companies in the country. Returns on the investment were to be granted after the transaction was effected. It never was.

Gough and several others who fled investors in the east bay of nearly $400,000 were convicted following Gough's arrest in Santa Cruz after several months' search. Gough's case will be considered by the state board of prison directors, February 25-26.

Daugherty, Miller On Trial Monday

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general of the United States, and Thomas W. Miller, once alien property custodian, will again go to trial here next Monday on conspiracy charges. They were tried last September but the jury disagreed.

The defendants are charged with improperly endorsing a $7,000,000 claim to a Swiss corporation, of German owned property which had been seized during the war. The government alleges that the Swiss corporation was a blind and that the original owners got their property returned.

BUILDING CODE DISCUSSED AT BERKELEY MEET

The three day conference of the central district of the Pacific Coast Building Officials in Berkeley, was concluded yesterday afternoon with an estimate of the proposed uniform building code for the Pacific coast, according to City Building Inspector A. J. Hurley, who attended the session.

Various sections of the "final preliminary draft" of the proposed code were discussed. The conference is the outgrowth of efforts on the part of building officials for more than a year to standardize building regulations in coast cities. It is estimated that an enormous economic saving will be effected through such a code.

At an annual meeting of the Pacific coast conference held in San Jose in September a "final preliminary draft" was presented. The preliminary draft has been adopted practically intact by the cities of Sacramento, San Bernardino and Alhambra.

The conference in Berkeley was for the purpose of clearing up a number of points in the code preparatory to submitting it to cities of northern California for adoption.

Representatives from thirty cities in the northern part of the state attended the conference. Stanley P. Koch, chief building inspector of Berkeley, and chairman of the central district of the conference, presided.

EFFORTS FAIL TO REACH KIN OF MRS. CURRIE

Victim of Fire Was In Failing Health; Had Not Written Family

Efforts to communicate with relatives of Mrs. Theresa Isabelle Currie, 65, who was burned to death in last night's fire, failed and Pine streets early yesterday morning had met with no success at a late hour last night, according to a report made by Coroner Aubrey Wilson.

Mrs. Currie is reported to have a brother, John Hamilton, in Red Bluff, and a nephew by marriage who is instructor in the University of California.

A charred bankbook in which was a balance of $125 and $5 in cash were found in a stocking of the dead woman yesterday. Her husband died in 1913 and since that time she has worked for Mrs. J. A. Hadley, 255 Fifteenth street. The couple are said to have lost everything in the San Francisco fire. According to Mrs. Hadley, the dead woman was proud, and naturally resentful with regard to her personal affairs.

Mrs. Currie was born in Red Bluff and received a good education. She was well born of a highly distinguished Kentucky family. For some time she had been planning to communicate with her family, but on account of failing eyesight had neglected to do so.

Mrs. Hadley stated yesterday that Mrs. Currie complained of feeling ill three days ago, and that she had kept closely to the house. Mrs. Hadley brought food to her on several occasions and attempted to cheer her. She appeared in fairly good health when she was last seen by Mrs. Harley on Friday.

Arrangements for the inquest and funeral services are pending word from relatives.

New Storm May Sweep California

(By Universal Service)
SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 5.—Brisk rainfall recommenced shortly after noon here today with Northern California reported in the path of another storm originating off the southern coast of Oregon. Snow was falling heavily throughout the Sierra Nevada mountains today and the depth was 97 inches at Summit, 12 at Truckee and 8 at Blue Canyon. United States meteorologist N. R. Taylor announced all northern streams in comfortable condition, though storms of the last week have occasioned rises. The Sacramento river stood slightly above 23 feet today. Taylor stating there is no immediate danger that the floor stage, 92 feet, will be reached.

Alabama Continues Use Of Prison Labor

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 5.—Working of convicts in state leased mines in Alabama—one of the few coal areas where the system still prevails—will be prolonged into 1928.

The legislature today agreed to Gov. Bibb Graves' proposal to keep the prisoners in the mines eighteen months longer.

JOHNSTON IS MENTIONED FOR FOLSOM POST

(By Universal Service)
SACRAMENTO, Feb. 5.—The question of a new wardenship appointment at Folsom prison, to fill the $5,000 position from which Warden J. J. Smith resigned last night at request of the state board of prison directors, was the chief subject of political discussion at the capitol today with five men mentioned as possibilities in the race.

Johnston Mentioned
James A. Johnston, warden of San Quentin prison until the advent of the Richardson state administration and now a San Francisco banker, was generally conceded an outstanding figure in the situation if he is willing to re-enter the state service. Talk of creating a supervisory wardenship over both penitentiaries, which position Johnston might be prevailed upon to undertake, has been in the air for several weeks.

PILOT CARRIES MAIL ON BACK THROUGH SNOW

Low Flying Plane Hits Mountain Top Near Donner Lake

(By Universal Service)
SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 5.—Although badly cut and bruised when his plane crashed into a mountain top today near Donner Lake, Eugene Johnson of San Francisco carried two bags of airmail over rugged country and through snowdrifts to Tamarack, Calif., over four miles away from the scene of the crash.

The plane, flying on the Reno-San Francisco division, was a total loss.

Johnson's mishap occurred when he lost his bearings in a heavy blizzard in the high Sierras. He dropped to low altitudes but was unable to identify landmarks. The mountainside loomed up before him and he crashed into it with the engine still open. Miraculously he was unhurt.

With his mailbags on his back, Johnson made a long climb up the mountain and reached the railroad right of way. After tramping for a mile and a half more he arrived in the little town of Tamarack, and asked that arrangements be made to transport his mail to Reno on the first train.

A slow freight was routed through as a special by authorities and raced through mountain passes at full speed. At arrival in Reno in ample time to make connection with the first east-bound plane from the Nevada field.

In the meantime, alarm had been aroused for Johnson's safety. He was reported in several localities as circling in indecision as to his location. Claire K. Vance, a brother pilot, and a number of Southern Pacific employees searched for him without discovering any trace of the missing airman.

Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Johnson, 1623 Delaware street, Berkeley. He has been with the air mail service since 1920 and is a veteran of the World War.

A USEFUL GAUGE ON EUROPEAN JUDGEMENT

Americans who believe in their own country and have not been won to an admiration of European social and political life by reason of a tax dodging residence abroad are at times unduly disturbed by the foreign journalistic and political interpretation of our national activities. One general rule can be laid down for the valuing of these proclamations. If Europe goes into spasms of praise over an American demonstration in the foreign field then without any reservation the American citizen can at once assume that we have pulled a boner and that we are in the wrong, as the small boy would say it of getting "all wet."

If on the other hand the foreign journalistic command and European governmental and parliamentary bodies begin to proclaim with sobs in their voices that we are off on the wrong foot and that something most unfortunate is certain to happen, the American citizen is entitled to put a flower in his buttonhole, walk down and give the order for an addition to his plant because it is dollars to doughnuts we are on the right track. All this is low down language for a high-faluting topic but it is the truth and that sometimes requires bluntness to be made appreciated.

Most of the state legislatures are about to meet and nothing could so add to the happiness of American politics as a lot of state legislative investigations to help piece out those at Washington.

A Berlin man claims to have invented a phonograph which will have the musical volume of a regimental band. Doubtless this instrument will be very popular in apartment houses.

Mussolini over in Italy has barred the dancing of the Charleston and the Blackbottom. Probably he is fearful lest they might start up old Vesuvius again.

"London Phone Girls Learn Our Numbers," says a headline in the New York Times. They'll have to show us.

Speaking of deflation, Florida real estate and the French franc ought to have a lot of sympathy for one another.

It is said that Germany now has more workers than she had in 1914. But how about the jobs?

Personal Health Service By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instructions. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this newspaper. Name you, city on your return envelope. Don't say "city."

APROSEXIA VULGARIS

Buying theater tickets I underestimated the number in my party and had to return to the box office for more. Then I tried to pocket the tickets and force upon the doorman a handful of change I had just received at the ticket window. Aprosexia vulgaris (ordinary absentmindedness) is sometimes an expensive affliction—many a victim of it walks blithely away leaving tidy sums in change without a claimant. I suppose there is a psychological explanation for it, which I will leave to our regular psychologist. All I know is that long years before I screwed up courage to go about halfless I was wont to forget my lid when making a call and tremendously discomfited if the oversight was discovered by someone who would come running after me with my hat.

Right now I am unable to recollect the fancy name which the familiar advertising has popularized for foul breath, although a thousand correspondents have interpreted it for my information. I wanted to draw an analogy between the ridiculous use of that term for bad breath and my own little job in calling ordinary absentmindedness by the ponderous term. But all I can think of is anosmia, which means loss or absence of the sense of smell. But never mind. Wouldn't it be a calamity to the antisepitic business if anosmia became epidemic? Nostalgia keeps recurring, but that is homesickness.

Well, to perdition with it—I have always wished I could forget that word anyway. It makes me so tired when some simple correspondent insists on translating it into ordinary language for me.

There are at least three kinds of absentmindedness. First, the normal state of persons of great intellectual endowment, as per above. Second, the functional inattentiveness of the child with adenoids or other obstruction of the upper breathing passages. Third, the fixed or abnormal absentmindedness of persons with disease affecting the brain.

Dr. Arnold Lorand, in his book on "Defective Memory and Absentmindedness" (F. A. Davis Co., Philadelphia) ascribes considerable influence to the state of some of the ductless glands in the causation of absentmindedness and poor memory, and he tells of some few cases in which marked improvement was obtained thru the treatment with ductless gland extracts.

It is debatable whether the impaired hearing which so commonly goes with adenoids or enlarged tonsils, and the general lowered vitality which inevitably occurs from prolonged interference with oxygenation of the blood is not the sole explanation for the dullness, inattentiveness and absentmindedness which characterizes the behavior of the child with this handicap.

Another good suggestion of Dr. Lorand's for the forgetfulness of mature or prematurely aged adults particularly is an adequate iodine ration. He does not put it in these terms, but he points out that iodine stimulates or enlivens the thyroid gland activity and that gland has something to do with memory.

As I have often recommended, any one (who is not affected with goiter or otherwise in need of medical care) may take one drop of ordinary tincture of iodine in a glassful of water once daily for a month in each of the four seasons of the year, or once or twice a week throughout the year, as a suitable iodine ration.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Scrambled Bimbos

My daughter gave birth to a baby in a hospital, and things were so badly managed that the several babies (all boys) born about the same time were so mixed up that the nurses did not know which was which or who was who, the parentage being finally decided by facial resemblance. My daughter is now worrying as to whether she really has her own baby. Is there any known test which would definitely settle this? (P. A.)

Answer—Biological blood grouping tests may yield fairly conclusive evidence that a child is not of a given parentage, but there is no known test by which parentage can be positively determined.

Nothing Very Nice

What have you to say about matings put by the Newton laboratories, located in River-side, Halsey's audiotape tablets put out by Halsey Laboratories and Dr. Coffee catarrh and deafness medicine. (Mrs. S. W. E.)

Answer—All I can say right now is my lip is cracked.

Two Uncomfortable Spots

Please find stamp enclosed, for which kindly send me advice on neuritis especially in hip and elbow. I have it mostly in the winter, rarely in the summer. (A.N.H.)

Answer—I have conducted an exhaustive search for the stamp but with no luck. For 2 cents I might have told you a lot. I'll tell you something for nothing. Seriously and sincerely, and not sarcastically, I cannot surmise what your trouble may be. Certainly no form of neuritis I know about would manifest itself in the way you describe.

Why Not Hoopsnake Oil

Is there any virtue in the use of a rattlesnake oil preparation for deafness? (E. C. P.)

Answer—No, that is just a silly superstition which has been commercially exploited by certain mail order firms that market concoctions purporting to be rattlesnake oil. Last April a fraud order was issued by the postoffice department debarring one such firm from the use of the mails. The rattlesnake lends itself to popular legend, superstition and credulity. What marvelous things the traveling charlatan and the mail order faker could do with the hoopsnake if he had a mind to turn his hand to this resourceful member of the reptilian family.

TRY THIS ON THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Parents, just how shall we reward good teaching? Should teachers who hold degrees get more salary than those who do not? Is a degree in and of itself, a guarantee that the holder is a superior teacher? Should all teachers be paid the same minimum salary regardless of the grade they teach in, and are increases they may receive to be based upon their additional training and experience? Or upon the capacity they show in developing their pupils? How can we tell a good teacher when we see one? Does the holder of college credits make a better teacher than one who has never been exposed to CREDITITS?

At present a teacher in high school, in most places, gets more salary than one in the grades. Additional professional training means a better job. In some places holding one's tongue and saying wood brings the plums. Others plattitudinize and hold their jobs. But everyone it is the school board, or the superintendent, or the principal who grades them. THE BOYS AND GIRLS GET MARKED AND DO NO MARKING. Now why not have the pupils mark their teachers? In the long run is not the collective judgment of the pupils themselves—expressed, perhaps, in unsigned ballots (Australian system, isn't it?) a pretty reliable index as to a teacher's all around ability?

There is nothing revolutionary about this in any other line of work. Who judges the work of a physician? Who finally passes on the honesty or efficiency of a department store? Who approves or disapproves of a newspaper? THE CUSTOMER. Are not pupils CUSTOMERS?

I have an idea that some day there is going to be a very marked change in the whole educational scheme of things. Not only in methods of teaching and in the results obtained, but also in the administration of education. Some day ignorant school boards thru an improvement in personnel, will really comprehend what constitutes a proper attitude to be maintained with school superintendents. Some day—and for the good of the pupils may it come soon—superintendents will shed their rubber heels and assert themselves. School teachers will catch the true spirit of professionalism and insist upon a closer relationship to educational administration than that of servant to master. And pupils, too, will have something to say about high-handed teachers whose disciplinary abilities should make them fine candidates for prison guards.

But let's go back to the customer. How do you think the poor husband feels when he views the metamorphosis that the years have wrought?

HER COUNTER PLAY: I hope you don't think this change only occurs in the female of the species. That is one of the worst things about marriage. I agree with you. This terrible development of unsuspected traits, habits and prejudices as time rumbles on. A woman is called upon to exercise a great deal of patience in a long career in marriage as she observes the young man who always had such a nice clean face when she married him, suddenly resolving to grow whiskers. Or taking up chewing tobacco.

THE REFEREE: This argument will never get anywhere. But all the same, they are both right.

Our Conversation Corner

Should I have anything to do with a fellow who will not speak to me on the streets but likes to take me out nights in the summer? He says, "Wait until it gets dark and we will go for a walk."

SCHOOL GIRL

Answer—A man once tried to sell my father a horse and said, "I am so busy that I cannot come around day times. But I will show you the horse under the gas light some evening." Father never bought the horse.

Bill Grimm's Progress H.C. WITWER

Copyright, 1926, by Collier's Weekly and G. P. Putnam Sons
"Bill Grimm's Progress" is a pictorialization by Film Booking Office of America, Inc., (F. B. O.) of H. C. Witwer's stories of the same name.

SYNOPSIS

Bill Grimm, a slacker Fairfax Falls taxi-driver, has come to New York to seek his fortune in the employment of Barbara Baxter, a New York girl whom he met when he was instrumental in catching Jack Fairfax, a wealthy dissolute, red-handed bootlegger at the Falls. Barbara is a federal detective, and Bill falls in love with her, as does Fairfax. Bill is caught in a bank robbery mix-up when he is forced to drive the robbers away in his taxi at the point of a gun.

Although he has friends in Dutch Ford and Left Hook O'Brien, who want him to become a prize-fighter, Bill finds himself strangely alone after the robbery. He loses his job as taxi-driver, and is suddenly arrested.

Well, when the John Laws got done toying with me, they led me into a office where there was a lieutenant, a copper stenographer and some hard-boiled, assorted gumshoes. I was invited to sit down, and then the looney says he's going to make me a present of some fatherly advice. He says, "If I make a clean breast of the bank stick-up and tell you my confederates was, they may get me probation from the judge. I say I already told 'em all I know about it and what the Jersey City do they mean by making out I'm a crook? At that the lieutenant says there's no use fooling with me any longer, and he nicks me on one of the dicks, who opens a door, and in steps—Jack Fairfax!

"Did you ever see this man before?" the lieutenant asks him, pointing to me.

"Yes, sir," says Fairfax, and then goes on like he's reading it out of a book. "I bailed this man's taxicab on Broadway a few moments before he was sprung out of the bank. It was stopped at the curb, and I didn't see there were two men inside until I came up to it. They were in earnest conversation with the chauffeur and didn't notice me at first. I distinctly heard the three of them discussing a proposed hold-up and instructing this fellow as to his part in the affair.

I dived through the ropes to land on top of the bandit.

With that as a starter, he reeled off the most sensational downright lie I ever heard since I read "Gulliver's Travels." No fooling, I was too dumbfounded to dash across the street and grab him by the collar, or even butt in on his story. The stenographer is taking all this down, and by the time Fairfax got through he had sworn in black and white that I had helped him pull off a hold-up. When I did find my tongue, I was too mad and excited to talk clearly and they locked me up in a cell.

I guess that's where I'd been yet if Barbara Baxter hadn't read in the papers about me being jailed. She came flying down to headquarters with a lawyer, and when she showed the bailiff her credentials as a federal detective they let her see me fast enough. Barbara didn't even ask me was I guilty—she simply said she knew I had nothing to do with that robbery and it was an outrage to lock me up! Then we had a session with the lieutenant. The lawyer pointed out that I had no police record, and they'd already held me more than twenty-four hours without enough evidence to hold me at all, except as a witness. He demanded my release, saying he'd be responsible for me, and Barbara chimed in with how I helped her in her government duties at Fairfax Falls, explaining just why Jack Fairfax was sore at me. When she wound up by saying that Fairfax is even then out on bail awaiting a trial that will probably send him to Atlanta, Mr. Lieutenant weakened. I finally got released in the custody of Barbara's lawyer, a smart old guy named Yerkes.

Believe me, I was deeply grateful to Barbara, and I had to admit that her being a detective at that time—woman's job or not—was a great thing for me!

Yerkes, my trouble was just the opposite to being over. The rap had gone around, and I soon found out that getting mixed up in the bank robbery had not only cost me the job but had also harried me everywhere. I had a few dollars I had left galloped away for room and board, then my watch, new suit and an overcoat found out what it meant to be in a pawnshop. Butch Ford and Left Hook O'Brien stake me a few times willingly, but I couldn't go on living off them boys forever, and neither was I ready to accept their proposition to enter the ring. I would of called it a roughness. The guy across the ring from me was one of the bank robbers.

I quickly panted out that information to Barbara, and at once she was as excited as me. She says to tell a near-by copper, which had been keeping his eye on me ever since we came in, but I groaned. "That bull will gum things up—hold everything, Barbara. I'm going to nail this baby myself!"

Left Hook O'Brien and Rough House Hicks was in a furious mix-up, and the howling crowd was following their every move. I tried to work my way around the ring to reach my man at the other side, and in the next instant I was in the view of the ringsiders. Loud yells of "Hey, sit down, dumbbell!" hands grabbing fiercely at me and a chorus of angry boos slowed me up. This shouting excited the attention of the bank robber, and he seen me headed for him. He knew me all right, for he started to get up and duck. But I seen a life time in that fancy advance with Barbara Baxter, the world and the Stevedores & Scientists' National Bank, and the sight of that parsnip slipping out of my hands like in a flash, I groaned. I couldn't move a inch past the angry ringsiders, and I looked wildly about for a short cut to the other side of the ring. In a flash I seen one.

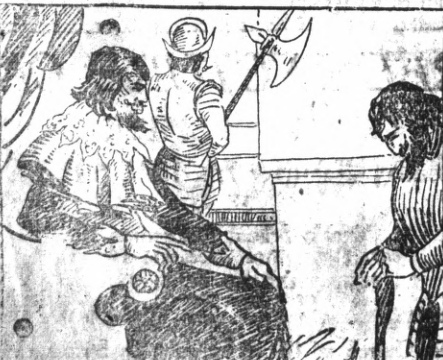

To the thunderstruck amazement of the crowd I jumped through the ropes right into the ring where O'Brien and Hicks was slamming away at each other. Immediately the house was in a uproar, and the referee gazed at me like he was stunned. The two scrappers was far too busy with each other to notice me, and still ferociously battling the miller across my determined path. Was a mere prize fight to keep me from my prey? Blah! I impatiently grabbed the boys by their shoulders and flung them aside, to collide against the ropes in opposite sides of the ring. The referee came to life and grabbed me, but with one shove I sent him sprawling to the canvas. Then I dived through the ropes over his prostrate body to land on top of the wildly cursing bank bandit, who, caught by the jam around him, was wedged there tight!

At that the same instant Left Hook O'Brien recovered from the shock of my charge across the ring and knocked the still astonished Rough House Hicks as cold as the middle of a nut sundae.

Well, that's about all there is to this bedtime story, except that Barbara Baxter thought my capture of the robber was the pig's velocity, and I got $5,000 reward from the Stevedores & Scientists' National Bank. Think of it—five grand! What I done with that plumb's ransom I'll tell you at our next session. Bring the kids!

Men Who Made the World FERNANDO CORTEZ By Dr. Elliot Shoring, the Noted Historian

SOME TIME PASSED IN THIS WAY, AND CORTEZ AGAIN DECIDED TO RETURN TO SPAIN TO PUT HIS CASE BEFORE THE EMPEROR. THE KING RECEIVED HIM VERY COLDLY, AND CORTEZ REALIZED THE TRUTH OF THE OLD MAXIM "PUT NOT YOUR FAITH IN PRINCES." AT THE TIME SPAIN WAS ALL AFIRE OVER THE BRILLIANT ACHIEVEMENTS OF PIZARRO IN PERU, WHILE THE FAMILIAR EXPLOITS IN MEXICO HAD GROWN STALE. THE INGRATITUDE OF MONARCHS IS NOTORIOUS. CORTEZ WAS SNUBBED REPEATEDLY.

TO GET ANOTHER INTERVIEW WITH THE SOVEREIGN, CORTEZ WAS OBLIGED TO STEP FORWARD IN THE STREET WHEN THE ROYAL CARRIAGE CHANGED TO PASS. THE KING COLDLY SAID TO HIM, "AND WHO ARE YOU?" CORTEZ SAID TO HAVE REPLIED PROUDLY, "SIRE, I AM THE MAN WHO HAS GIVEN YOUR MAJESTY MORE PROVINCES THAN YOU POSSESSED CITIES." IF THIS UNVERIFIED STORY WERE TRUE, IT WOULD ELOQUENTLY PORTRAY THE DEPTHS TO WHICH THE GREATEST CAPTAIN OF HIS AGE HAD FALLEN, IN BEING THUS FORCED TO WAYLAY HIS SOVEREIGN IN HIS CARRIAGE LIKE THE POOREST BEGGAR.

CORTEZ WAS NOW BROKEN IN HEALTH AND FAILING RAPIDLY. THE INSULTS AND DEGRADATION WHICH HAD BEEN THE REWARD OF HIS TREMENDOUS ACHIEVEMENTS DOUBTLESS GALLED HIS PROUD SPIRIT. HE FELT HIS END WAS APPROACHING, AND WITHDREW TO A SMALL TOWN NEAR SEVILLE. THERE HE DIED IN THE HOUSE OF A MAGISTRATE, JUAN RODRIGUEZ, DECEMBER 2, 1547, IN THE SIXTY-THIRD YEAR OF HIS AGE, ATTENDED BY HIS SON, DON MARTIN. IN HIS WILL CORTEZ HAD PROVIDED THAT WHEREVER HE DIED, HIS BODY SHOULD BE BURIED FOR A PERIOD OF TEN YEARS, AND AT THE END OF THAT TIME REMOVED TO MEXICO, THERE TO BE ENTOMBED IN THE MONASTERY HE HAD ESTABLISHED AT COTONAHUACAN. AND SO HIS REMAINS WERE FIRST LAID TO REST WITH SUITABLE CEREMONIES IN THE CHURCH OF SAN ISIDRO AT SEVILLE IN SPAIN.

Deputy Sheriff Dike Josslyn, Constable John Ott and Chief Scudero went to a house in Pittsburg where Angello was reported to be living under the name of B. Mello. Angello took alarm and led the officers a chase across vacant lots while Scudero unlimbered with a revolver. ## NEW VAPORIZER IS INVENTED BY DR. SPAULDING

As a result of an invention perfected by Dr. J. B. and Clara Spaulding, local physicians, 500 Spaulding vaporizers for the treatment of respiratory diseases have been manufactured in Berkeley, and indications are that Richmond will soon be the center of a new industry.

The device was perfected after three years of extensive experiment. It has already been installed in many of the bay hospitals and will be distributed by a Pacific coast hospital supply house.

Manufacturing has been started on a small scale, but it is planned that the product will be distributed throughout the mid-western and eastern quarters as soon as suitable quarters and arrangements can be made. In this event, the physicians predict that a local sale will be selected and manufacturing will be conducted on a large scale by the Drs. Spaulding themselves without incorporation as a stock company.

Dr. Spaulding predicts that the treatment of respiratory diseases will be revolutionized as a result of the new invention. A satisfactory vaporizer for the treatment of bronchitis, whooping cough, pneumonia, and asthma has never been perfected prior to the research conducted in Richmond. Cough medicines have been recognized as alleviative measures only, but were the best obtainable under conditions that then existed.

The new vaporizer is practically the first one of its kind that eliminates faults of boiling over, burning out, or setting fire to the house or bed clothing, according to Dr. Spaulding. It resembles a coffee percolator and the vapor issues from it somewhat like that of a teakettle. It is generated by electricity which is automatically shut off when the liquid is exhausted.

ing the car at the time of the accident. His automobile crashed with a car driven by Tony Regello at Twenty-third and Market streets. The boy was thrown from the machine and struck his head on the pavement. He was taken to the emergency hospital.

Walter Pedretti, 4, of San Pablo, was struck by an automobile driving on E. Marshall, oil worker,

Report on Chamber of Commerce Survey For General Hospital Here Is Nearing Completion

belief of the committee but the committee has not yet decided whether a public hospital would be the best thing for the city.

In order to determine this point considerable data has been acquired as to the success of public and private hospitals. In getting this information the committee has been freely advised by experts in their respective lines. Architects and builders of hospitals have been consulted. Owners of hospitals have called into conference. The income that could be legitimately expected from a hospital of 50 to 75 rooms has been considered.

The costs of construction and maintenance have also been gone into.

Questionnaires were also sent to the various industrial and manufacturing plants in the Richmond district and while none of these would commit themselves on the direct question of guaranteeing the maintenance of one or more beds at an estimated annual cost between $800 and $1000, every one asserted that a general hospital seemed to be needed and offered cooperation wherever possible.

It is believed by the committee that with the construction of a general hospital, whether publicly or privately owned in Richmond, there is no doubt that the industries would send their hospital cases to such an institution.

"Richmond must face the problem of a hospital," said Renwick, chairman of the committee yesterday. "There must be provided a first-class general hospital if Richmond is to keep pace with its industrial and community growth.
Our present facilities, though as far as they go are excellent, are woefully inadequate with the result that the majority of hospital cases are sent to Berkeley,

How Shall I Get Rest?

You ask when the nerves are on edge and you cannot sleep—"Feed the Nerves with Dr. A. W. Chase Tonic Pills" is the answer.

What is more distressing than to toss and roll in bed unable to sleep. The next day you are tired, nervous, irritable and everything seems to go wrong. Sleeplessness is nature's first warning that the nerves are exhausted. With loss of sleep comes further debility.
Day by day the nerve force is further depleted until you face nervous collapse and a complete breakdown of the health.
You become melancholy and discouraged. The future seems to hold no happiness for you. Everything worries you. But what a change comes over you when you supply new life and vigor to the nervous system by using DR. A. W. CHASE TONIC PILLS.

Gradually you find yourself sleeping better and feeling better and soon you realize that you are on the road to health and strength, to better efficiency in your daily work and the enjoyment of living.

Holding the Public Good Will

Our opinion is that a Value that is good today will also be good tomorrow and every day.

If an article, for example, is worth $4.98, that is a just price to sell it for. To reduce the price would be to admit that it was not properly priced in the beginning. We never have two prices for the same article. However, we do continuously
keep our prices as low as is consistent with current market conditions and re-placement costs. We never name comparative prices.

Here you receive the same fair consideration every day which means that your Dollar always buys 100 cents' worth
—no less, no more!
And that 100 cents'
worth is measured in the most liberal way possible.

Operating without spasmodic "sales" or other unnecessary
price-changing methods, selling for cash only and giving the customer the full benefit of the far-reaching buying power of this countrywide institution, we have found it possible not only to win the good will of the public but to continue to hold it.

now on in dealing with the Chinese situation.

With thousands of Americans and other foreigners from all parts of China gathered at Shanghai, it was pointed out by officials that trouble can be averted only by mutual agreement among the fighting forces to respect the international settlement.

They declared that by asking the Chinese themselves to remove it from the zone of warlike activities, the United States has demonstrated its good faith and proved that it has no desire to interfere in the internal affairs of the nation.

Meanwhile, however, the United States continues to use every precaution to insure the protection of its beleaguered nations in Shanghai.

The navy department announced that an additional force of 250 marines is being rushed to Shanghai from Manila on board the naval tanker, Pecos. The marines left yesterday and will arrive in Shanghai about Wednesday.

Know Brakes Is Advice Of Local Brake Shop Expert

Edward Allen of the Brake Shop wants to know how quickly you can stop your car?

It is a good thing to know just what the various brake applications will do when applied.

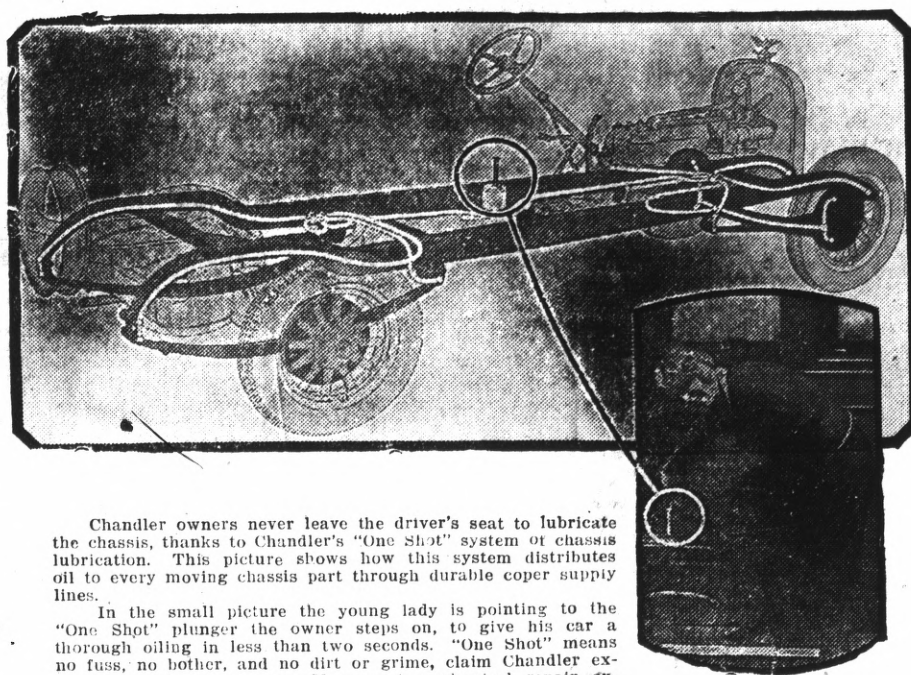

A test can be made by driving the car at various speeds on approximately level roads, then clutching and applying brakes when passing a given point in the road, and measuring the distance from this point in the road to where the car stops.

Since there are a number of things like grade, condition of tires, and many other things which determine the stopping power of the brakes, it is not possible to set an arbitrary figure as to the distance in which the car should stop, but the motorist should determine by test what is the safe distance. The Brake Shop is always ready to help with its special apparatus. Tests are free.

Goodbye Grease Guns And Oil Cans

Chandler owners never leave the driver's seat to lubricate the chassis, thanks to Chandler's "One Shot" system of chassis lubrication. This picture shows how this system distributes oil to every moving chassis part through durable copper supply lines.

In the small picture the young lady is pointing to the "One Shot" plunger the owner steps on, to give his car a thorough oiling in less than two seconds. "One Shot" means no fuss, no bother, and no dirt or grime, claim Chandler executives, and owners save 80 percent mechanical repair expense by keeping their cars thoroughly lubricated all the time. ## Dazed Man Is Found On Street By Local Police Found prostrated by the police at Twenty-third street and Bissell avenue early yesterday morning a seventy-five year old Oakland man who gave his name as George Gray was taken to the emergency hospital and revived with stimulants.

Captain B. V. Shirley reported that Gray was in an exhausted condition and had apparently walked all night. He had fallen in the street when he was discovered by the police. He could give no reason for coming to Richmond, and was returned to Oakland yesterday afternoon.

of Placer county, and Ben H. Miliken, superintendent of state prison road camps, also were reported today as likely candidates for consideration in filling the Folsom post.

Until the prison board is ready to act, A. H. Wright, board clerk at Folsom, will continue in the duties he assumed last night as acting warden.

Resignation of Warden Smith, it is understood, will probably mean the passing of Bruce Morrison, secretary to the warden, as the new executive to be appointed by the board will have authority to name his own chief aide.

Motives Not Known
Save for the announcement by Charles L. Neumiller, president of the prison board, that Smith's resignation came at request of the directors, no details as to motives for the virtual ousting of the warden were forthcoming today. It did not come as a surprise, however, as members of the board, re-organized with the beginning of Governor Young's administration, were understood to be dissatisfied with Smith's conduct of the penitentiary.

Asked to Resign
Smith, who has been warden at Folsom since 1913 and connected with California prison work for 37 years, gave no indication today of his future plans or of the reasons back of his resignation. He said he was glad he will no longer have to officiate at the execution of condemned prisoners. "I resigned," he added, "because I was asked to."

Responsibility Of Dealer Adds To Value Of Car

In the final analysis, regardless of cost, design, or reputation, the value of any automobile rests squarely upon its ability to render satisfactory transportation to its owner," says J. P. Strom, Willys-Knight Overland dealer, "and this is largely up to the local dealer."

"No manufacturer can make his influence benefit the motorist save through the car dealer in the place where the car is delivered to its ultimate owner. In practice, if not in theory, the responsibility of the manufacturer ceases when the car is delivered to the dealer."

"The motorist must look to the local dealer for responsibility for the operating needs of the car. The dealer is there for that purpose, and when he has failed to equip himself to undertake it the car owner suffers."
